CODE OF CONDUCT

Introduction

SALUS Group continuously pursues its vision and mission of being a vital chain in the supply of medicines, medical devices, quality and innovative services that bring health and well-being to people; adherence to the highest ethical standards of good cooperation, social responsibility and sustainable development are the values that SALUS Group consistently follows.

The Code is designed to preserve the long tradition of integrity and credibility of SALUS, Ljubljana, d.d. and companies within the SALUS Group.

The Code defines basic principles of acceptable conduct and behaviour of individuals and represents the fundamental and binding guidelines for individuals on all hierarchical and organizational level of SALUS Group, as well as establishes the zero tolerance policy in respect to actions of individuals which may negatively affect SALUS Group reputation or are unacceptable from a legal, moral or ethical point of view.

The Code defines values, principles, and tenets that SALUS Group believes in and follows; these values reflect corporate culture and the environment from which it originates. Furthermore, the Code is a governance tool and a part of SALUS Group broader vision of responsibility towards society and environment and sustainability.

The Code encourages and improves a culture of ethical conduct within the SALUS Group and is binding for the SALUS Group as a whole, each company that forms part of SALUS Group in accordance with the interpretation of this Code, all of their employees.

¹ The Slovenian Corporate Governance Code was adopted by the Ljubljana Stock Exchange (Ljubljanska borza, d.d., Ljubljana) and the Slovenian Directors' Association on December 9th, 2021.

Slogan

Our slogan is: “The welfare of people is our supreme law”; Salus populi est suprema lex.

1. Applicability and implementation

Strict adherence of the Code has a fundamental meaning for SALUS Group undisturbed performance of activities and reputation. This is the commitment of all employees. Each employee must confirm either through a documentary system or by signing a statement, that he has read and understood the Code and that he abides by it.

Consistent implementation of this Code is the responsibility of each employee and all SALUS Group companies.

The role of the Compliance Committee is to monitor the implementation of this Code, its amendment and/or updating, if necessary. The Committee receives concerns and reports of alleged violations of business compliance and examines them properly. It also has an advisory role regarding SALUS Group business compliance.

All efforts are made that the Code is compliant with valid legislation of the relevant market. In case of conflict between the Code and valid legislation, the latter shall prevail.

In case of conflict between the Code and internal rules of SALUS Group, the Code shall prevail.

2. Relations with employees

2.1. Fundamental aspects

SALUS Group is arranging relationships with the employees in a manner that ensures the respect of personal rights, personality of employees, personal data protection, prohibition of all types of discrimination, humane and respectful communication, payment for work in line with the labour law standards and amicable settlement of potential disagreements.

8. Communication with the media

Only authorized persons can communicate with the media.

When working, employees constantly acquire and exchange with each other confidential and sensitive information, ideas and reports that they are using in their work, therefore we should never disclose or provide any information if any media representative, investor or market analyst makes contact and wants to discuss SALUS Group business.

Employees must explain to such person, that we are not authorized to give information and direct him to the management board of company SALUS, Ljubljana, d.d..

9. Political activity

SALUS Group does not oppose political belonging of its employees, however, employees should not spread their political beliefs, persuade or encourage others to accept their political beliefs or in any other way be politically active or have political influence on others when they are on SALUS Group business premises and/or when they are in their professional environment, nor should they use SALUS Group resources for such purposes.

SALUS Group does not give, promise, or donate any form of political contributions.

10. Attitude towards animals

SALUS Group is committed to achieving the highest standards when it comes to animal welfare. Therefore, SALUS Group companies have to assure compliance with all local laws and regulations regarding animal welfare, when relevant to their business operations.

11. Sustainability

The SALUS Group's Sustainable Development Policy promotes the achievement of long-term business success in a sustainable manner, i.e. taking into account not only the economic but also the environmental, social and governance aspects.

A sustainable approach also has an important impact on gaining and maintaining the trust of relevant stakeholders and the wider social community.

We aim to work for the good of each individual, for society as a whole and for our planet.

We have divided our sustainability commitments into three pillars, which are:

- 1. acting responsibly, which includes our commitment to transparent, ethical, compliant and accountable business.
We focus on the personal and career development of our employees, as well as their well-being, health and safety.
- 2. bringing stakeholders together, whereby we work in synergy with our partners to enhance value to the wider social environment, building a responsible value chain and
- 3. protecting the environment, recognising that by reducing greenhouse gas emissions we are contributing to a net zero carbon society, and by using renewable energy, increasing the circular economy and sustainable mobility we are helping to preserve our planet.

12. Speak-up Policy and reporting alleged violations

SALUS Group encourages all employees to follow this Code and internal regulations of SALUS Group companies and in accordance with them, report any concerns about the Code, other regulations, acts, documents, inappropriate practices, non-compliant behaviour or their suspicions of alleged violations and particularly but not limited to:

- bribery, corruption, or illegal payments,
